Home/School Partnership Overview

At Aylward, we believe that the strongest outcomes for children happen when school and homework together. Parents and carers know their children best, while our staff bring professional knowledge and expertise. By sharing these perspectives, communicating openly and building positive relationships, we can create a consistent and supportive experience for every child.

We want parents and carers to feel that they are active partners in their child's education, with meaningful opportunities to get involved, share their views, contribute to school life and work alongside us to support learning and wellbeing.

The opportunities outlined below are designed to help us strengthen that partnership.
